A Note From the Principal

Greetings to the PJA Family,

Once again, we are approaching the end of another week. I always thank God for the many blessings He has given us. The winter is gradually beginning to fade away.

I would like to thank parents, teachers, and staff for your dedication and support in our students' lives.

Thank you to the grade 5-8 students for the music festival at Union Spring Academy. Your performances were beautiful, and those who watched enjoyed them. We also want to thank Mrs. Reene Sausa and Mrs. Kelsey Hayes for your support, and may God continue to bless you.

On March 07, 2026, I encourage all students to come and enjoy the program at Skate Night.

Encourage students to complete any missing assignments to avoid a lower grade.

Once again, I truly appreciate each of you for your generous support of PJA in many ways. May God bless you abundantly.

JAMES 1:17 Every good and perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of the heavenly lights, who does not change like shifting shadows.

Warm regards,

Mr. Sathiyaseelan

How to Teach Kids Responsibility: 13 Effective Ways

Give Your Child Something to Take Care Of

Giving your child something to take care of can teach them responsibility. This could be: caring for a pet, or a plant if you don't want to bring animals into your home.

Your child will be tasked with different responsibilities, such as remembering to water the plant daily or feed the hamster on a schedule. Your child will build routine and consistency, as well as develop compassion.

Teach Your Child to Manage His/Her Anger or Frustration

As adults, we have a responsibility to manage our own emotions. If things don't go our way, such as a cancelled appointment or being stuck in traffic, we have to remain calm and deal with situations logically. Children find it harder to self-regulate their emotions – especially young children. This is why it's so important to teach your children to recognize and manage their feelings. Some common tools include:

- Deep breathing
- Journaling their feelings
- Talking about their emotions honestly

Teach your children that feelings are natural, but actions are a choice, and we are all responsible for how we act.

Teach Kids Moral Responsibility

Moral responsibility is teaching kids to do what's right, even when it's hard. Parkview is your partner in this, but a partnership is the best way to get the job done.

Encourage Your Child to Stand up for What's Right

Teach your children that if they want to live in a fair and just society, they need to play their part in making it so. This often means having courage and thinking for themselves. For example, if one of your child's friends is leaving another friend out during playtime, you can teach your kid to stand up for them. Explain that it's important to make the friend who's been left out feel included.
