A Note From the Principal

Greetings PJA family,

Once again, we extend our gratitude to our Heavenly Father for His blessings and guidance throughout this week. We are approaching the conclusion of our third quarter. I would like to thank the PJA family for your support thus far. May God continually bless you and your family.

There are a number of events lined up for us.

- Teacher-parent conference: April 8-9. I would like to encourage all parents to attend and discuss their child's progress with their teacher.
- The week of prayer is scheduled for April 14-17, 2026 with Pastor Giovanni Esposito and the conference leaders serving as guest speakers.
- We are preparing for the spring church concert service on April 18, 2026.
- The Work Bee is scheduled for May 03, 2026. We have several tasks to accomplish, and we encourage the PJA family to join us.

Students and parents, please take a moment to check your child's grades and any missing assignments through AE-Connect. Let's encourage our students to submit those outstanding assignments so they can stay on track and succeed!

Joshua 1:9 "Have I not commanded you? Be strong and of good courage; do not be afraid, nor be dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go".

Enjoy reading our newsletter.

Warm Regards,
Mr. Sathiyaseelan

Thank You

Thank you Anna, Lizzy and Addy Rodriguez for your generous donation of paper plates and bowls to our kitchen!

Your donation drastically reduces the kitchen workload

We are always taking donations of paper plates, bowls or happy hands to help us wash dishes.

A Note From Home & School

Thank you everyone for coming out and making skate night such an incredible event! We had great attendance and so much help with setup and cleanup.

The only thing that could make skate night better next year would be a few more pairs of skates for the school.

If anyone has a pair of skates that their kids have outgrown, or if you see a pair at the thrift store and would be willing to donate them to Parkview, it would be such a blessing for the students.

~Amber Perrin, Home and School Association

Dine & Donate

In the near future we will be setting up fundraisers with a few local restaurants. By dining at these restaurants on the date of the event, part of your purchase will be donated directly to the school. More details to follow soon!

How to Teach Kids Responsibility: 13 Effective Ways

Teaching Kids Financial Responsibility

Financial responsibility is an important skill for your child to learn if you want them to live freely and happily. Here's how to start building financial literacy early on.

Give Your Child Pocket Money

Giving your child a small allowance every month is a good way to teach financial responsibility in a safe environment. You could even tie the allowance to chores or tasks, which will show your child the importance of earned rewards, teaching them that they have to work hard for the things they want.

Tools to Help Motivate Children with Financial Learning:

- A clear jar where they save their money will help them see their funds grow
- A color-in savings chart will show their progress toward a goal, such as a new toy
- Toy banks with pretend credit cards will show them how important it is to keep their money safe.
- Teach them to honor God by returning tithe and giving offerings.

Talk about Money as a Household

In many households, money can be a complex and uncomfortable subject, but it doesn't have to be. If you make money an approachable and open topic, this removes the stigma of discussing money matters from an early age. Talk to your child about why you choose to spend your money on certain things, or why you have a food budget. Ensure they know that one day paying the bills and mortgage will be their responsibility. This removes the taboo around this topic and empowers kids to ask questions about money.

Color Run Coming Up

We are looking to increase the number of business sponsors we have for the Color Run. If you would be willing to ask your employer to sponsor the event, please ask Mrs. Temple for a sponsorship form to share with your workplace.
